LEWIS METZ IS HELD FOR COURT

Lewis Metz, 52, of Orrtanna R. 1, arrested July 9 after allegedly "running amok" with a shotgun and firing into the home of a neighbor. Clyde Sloat, was held for court Saturday on a list of charges which included shooting into a building, threatening its occupants, pointing a gun and malicious mischief.

This action was included in a decision handed down by Justice of the Peace John H. Baschore, before whom the charges had been filed a week ago. Metz had previously been held for court on a surety of the peace charge, filed with Justice of the Peace Roger Myers, Fairfield, by Mr. Sloat.

Metz was unable to furnish bail and was committed to jail. Bail on the surety of the peace charge was fixed at $500. In holding the defendant for court on the later charges, Squire Baschore fixed the bail at $500.

Mosquito Haven At Brickyard Removed

Gettysburg borough authorities said today a town ordinance prohibiting dumping in the borough limits will be enforced in an effort to break up that practice on the brickyard property.

An alleged mosquito breeding haven among rubbish dumped there over a long period of time was removed Saturday by the owner, Morris Gittin, at the direction of the borough. Mr. Gittin had the piles of tin cans and other rubbish covered with earth by a bulldozer and then asked the borough authorities to help him keep his property clean by prosecuting trespassers who dump rubbish there.

SEVERE DAMAGE BY JAP BEETLE; PEAK THIS WEEK

The Japanese beetle invasion has reached its peak in Adams county, according to M. T. Hartman, county agricultural agent, or will reach its peak by the end of the week, and a gradual reduction should take place after July 25.

Damage this year has been severe, Mr. Hartman said. The beetles emerged from the soil about June 25 and since that date appeared in increasing numbers daily. The beetles have attacked cherry trees, rose bushes, grape leaves and elm trees, in many cases almost denuding the foliage, according to Mr. Hartman. They will not disappear entirely before September, he said.

"Beetle injury can be avoided by spraying or dusting with DDT," Mr. Hartman said. "DDT in the form of a 50 per cent wettable powder is available locally, and should be used at the rate of two pounds in 100 gallons of water or in smaller lots it should be used two rounded tablespoons of DDT per gallon of water."

Rough On Beetles
"With the exception of vegetables that are approaching the harvest period and melons and cucumbers, which should not be treated with DDT, the solution can be applied to all shrubs, trees, grapes and other foliage."

"DDT is not caustic to plants, but is rough on Japanese beetles," the county agent said. "If spraying is not possible, a three per cent DDT dust can be used to protect the plants and kill the beetles."

SEEREY HITS 4 HOMERS AS A'S LOSE TO CHICAGO

By JOE REICHLER

(Associated Press Sports Writer)

James Patrick Seerey of the Chicago White Sox has clouted his way into major league baseball's homerun record book alongside such illustrious sluggers as Lou Gehrig, Ed Delahanty, Bobby Lowe and Chuck Klein.

The barrel-chested outfielder slammed four home runs in one game yesterday to become the fifth big leaguer to achieve the feat.

This one-man slugging rampage overshadowed other important Sunday results such as Cleveland's sweep of a doubleheader from Washington 2-1 and 6-4, to increase the Indians' first place lead in the American league to a game and a half; and the Boston Braves' two triumphs over Pittsburgh, 10-2 and 3-1, which gave them an eight-game budge in the National League pennant race.

Fourth Was Winning Run
Seerey belted his four home runs in an 11-inning game in which the White Sox defeated the Philadelphia Athletics, 12-11, in the first game of a doubleheader. The A's captured the second game 6-1 with the Sunday 7 p.m. curfew halting proceedings after five innings.

Lowe, Delahanty and Gehrig hit their four home runs in nine inning games. Klein cracked his four in 10 innings. Gehrig was the only other American leaguer to accomplish the feat.

Three of Seerey's circuit clouts came in successive innings — the fourth, fifth and sixth. The fourth snapped an 11-11 tie in the 11th.

Nelson Potter and Jeff Heath, two former American leaguers, combined to lead the Braves to victory over the Pirates in the opener. Potter, the crafty right-hander, spaced seven hits for his first National league victory in his initial start. Heath clouted a grand slam homer to spark a five-run first inning against Elmer Riddle. Riddle, against Elmer Riddle. Rookie right-hander Vern Bickford bested Russ Meyer in the afterpiece.

Kiner Gets 26th
Ralph Kiner spoiled Bickford's bid with a home run, his 26th of the season and the 100th of his career.

Cleveland nosed out Washington twice to gain a full game on the second place Athletics and the third place Yankees. Gene Bearden was credited with his eighth victory in the opener, although he needed help from Russ Christopher in the ninth when the Senators got their only run and had the tying and winning runs on bases.

Hal Newhouser, who begged out of the all-star game with a sore arm, gained his 14th victory of the season, pitching the Detroit Tigers to a 5-3 first game triumph over the Yankees before 62,990 fans. The Yankees swamped the Tigers 12-4 in the second game, halted after six and a half innings because of darkness.

The fourth place Boston Red Sox moved within two and a half games of the Yankees by sweeping both ends of a doubleheader from the St. Louis Browns, 12-5 and 7-6.

Dodgers, Cards Divide
The Dodgers and Cardinals divided a double header before 32,761 fans, the largest crowd of the season in St. Louis. A home run by Terry Moore with two mates aboard in the 11th inning sent the Cards to a 6-3 victory in the opener. The Dodgers crushed the Cards, 13-4, in the second game. The split left the two clubs in a deadlock for second place, but shoved them both ahead of the Pirates, who dropped from second to fourth, a half-game ahead of the New York Giants.

The Giants fought back to gain a split with the Reds in Cincinnati, losing the opener, 3-0, but coming back to win the nightcap, 8-2.

The Giants collected 12 hits in the second game to help Clint Hartung gain his fifth victory.

The Philadelphia Phils and Chicago Cubs split a twin bill, the Cubs winning the opener 3-2, and the Phils taking the second, 6-4.

Interstate League

(By The Associated Press)

The Harrisburg Senators found their hitting range yesterday as they pounded out 30 hits for 25 runs in defeating Lancaster twice, 15-8 and 10-1, in an Interstate league twin bill.

Rightfielder Hal Sanders led the Harrisburg hitting attack with a homer, double and three singles in the two games. Sanders batted in six of the Senators' runs.

The last place Hagerstown Owls also took both ends of their twin bill, defeating Trenton 7-6 and 2-1. Shortstop George Daddario pounded out two homers to help the Hagerstown cause.

The pace setting Wilmington Blue Rocks were held to a split in a doubleheader with the York White Roses. York took the opener 6-2 and Wilmington the nightcap 3-1. The runnerup Allentown Cardinals divided the first game 19-12 and taking the afterpiece 7-3.

Today's schedule: Harrisburg at Allentown (2), Sunbury at York (2), Hagerstown at Wilmington and Trenton at Lancaster.

Sports Roundup

BY HUGH FULLERTON, JR.

New York, July 19 (AP) — Messrs. Sam Pian and Art Winch, of the Chicago-Gary set, were in town briefly the other day combining business and social activities.

They signed for Tony Zale to defend his middleweight title against Marcel Cerdan, and they talked at some length about Zale. It was a good subject, since these two ferocious middle-aged gentlemen may put on one of the best fights of the season. Winch, head of the firm's training department, professed to be worried about Zale's age. (Tony is 34 and Cerdan admits to 32 years).

"You don't know when he might crack up," Art maintained. "He can't go on forever." "He's giving it a good try," suggested a listener. "I guess that's because he works so hard and stays in good condition," replied Winch. "The first day he worked I had to urge him to get out of the ring. The city gave him a new car after the Graziano fight, but does he use it? No. He still takes the suburban 60 miles a day to train in Chicago."

MONDAY MATINEE

Just before he was recalled by the Red Sox, Tex Hughson was named temporary manager of the Austin, Texas, Pioneers to finish a game after Manager Hank Oana had been thumbed out. Tex took up the argument with the umpire and followed Hank less than a minute later.

Hughson, incidentally, compiled an earned run average of 2.16 in 52½ innings of big state league pitching.

Sad Sam Ichinose, who has the biggest stable of fighters in Hawaii, also owns a soda works, a night club and a soy bean factory.

Battles and a protest featured Sunday's South Penn league baseball contests.

The seventh inning stretch was stretched into a battle royal at Barlow, according to reports from that section, while the same inning stretched into a protest at Bonneauville.

Cashtown won 4 to 3 over Bonneauville, on the loser's diamond, after ten innings of play, but Bonneauville is hoping that the contest will be played over again, because, if Bonneauville's claims are correct, the contest ended in a 1 to 1 tie in the seventh.

With the score tied, a Cashtown player on first and another on second, a Cashtown team member hit a fly which started out foul but bounced back fair, according to Bonneauville statements. The man on first ran to second, the man on second stayed where he was, the batter ran to first and the Bonneauville player who recovered the ball threw to third. The umpire resolved the difficulty by sending the batter back to bat once more. Bonneauville protested and then, apparently shaken, permitted two more Cashtown runs to score in that inning. By the end of the ninth Bonneauville had tied the score and in the tenth a Cashtown slugger blasted a home run into the trees to give the visitors the contest.

At Barlow a big sixth inning, during which three runs crossed the home plate gave Barlow its 4 to 2 victory over Greenmount, but while the sixth was big in runs, the seventh was big in battles. With players from both teams and many spectators taking part the struggle flowed across the playing field with as many as six different fracas occurring at the same time. One of the battles was scheduled to come before a local justice of the peace today with the participants apparently unable to settle the matter on the field of honor. Finally all of the non-uniformed battlers were removed from the field and the game continued. In the baseball line Jim Shomper, Barlow shortstop, collected a triple and three singles to pace Barlow's attack. Ross Sachs, Barlow's newest signed player, was ineligible to play in Sunday's game due to the 72-hour rule. He will start his services next week.

Spence, hurling for Arendtsville's Conewago VFW nine, held Granite to only one hit during the battle won by the veterans 8 to 0. The VFW blasted 12 hits off Clapper and P. King including R. Allison's triple and two singles.

Two pitchers, G. Lawrence and P. Krichen, attempted to hold the Heidlersburg squad which pounded out 11 hits for five runs spaced throughout the game. Brushtown's six hits off Weigle netted only one run with T. Smith coming across the home plate in the fourth.

Wenksville and Gettysburg engaged in a hitting battle, with Wenksville proving it comes from the land where the tall timbers grow, 18 to 8. Gettysburg errors aided the visitors on their way.

Pittsburgh, July 19 (AP)—Vic Ghezzi, the big, good-natured golf pro who spends just enough time at Englewood, N. J., to vote, won the Depper Dan invitational golf tournament yesterday—a tournament he very nearly passed up. Ghezzi turned in a 69 for his fourth consecutive sub-par round to pocket first prize money of $2,600 with a 17-below-par total of 271 for the 72-hole grind. He was six strokes ahead of Jimmy Demaret of Ojai, Calif., who finished 277. Demaret had a two-under-par 70 on the final round.

Tuesday's Games

McSherrystown at Gettysburg.
Ortanna at Littlestown.
Hanover at Bendersville.
Fairfield at York Springs.
McSherrystown at Emmitsburg.
McSherrystown moved ahead of Littlestown in the Adams County Baseball league standings Saturday by eking out a 5 to 4 decision over a visiting Fairfield squad.

The game was one of the two played in the loop. The only other contest was a ten-inning struggle at New Oxford which Hanover finally won, 8 to 6, over the home nine. Gettysburg, for the third time, showed up with only three players on the home field and had to forfeit its game giving Ortanna a 9 to 0 win and causing the circuit and the three Gettysburg players out Saturday to wonder what, if anything, can be done. One of the three 70.

Two Postponed

Emmitsburg and Littlestown postponed their contest and the tilt that was to have been played between Bendersville and York Springs was postponed due to repairs being made to the York Springs grounds. The postponed contest will be played Thursday. No date has been set for playing the Littlestown-Emmitsburg game.

Fairfield outthit McSherrystown in that game, but was unable to bunch its shots sufficiently to win. Lloyd Benner had a perfect day at bat, coming up with a triple, double and two singles out of four trips to the platter and crossing home plate for two of the runs. Two hits in the first inning another in the second and another in the fourth gave Fairfield a 3 to 0 lead going into the fifth inning. Then McSherrystown began to find Shriner's tosses and pushed across its five runs on as many hits in the next three innings. Keefe held Fairfield hitless in the ninth when one more run would have tied the game.

Out Of The Past

From the Files of the Star and Sentinel and The Gettysburg Times
ONE HUNDRED YEARS AGO

Wm. F. Johnson, of Armstrong, county, speaker of the Senate, is now the constitutional governor of Pennsylvania, by the resignation of Gov. Shunk. Mr. Johnson is a sterling Whig and a man of fine talents. He will hold the office until the middle of January next.

Removal: J. Lawrence Hill, M.D., dentist, has removed his office to the building opposite the Lutheran church in Chambers street, two doors east of Mr. Middlecoff's store, where those wishing to have any dental operations, are respectfully invited to call.

Temperance Celebration: In accordance with previous arrangements, the members of "Adams Division No. 214 Sons of Temperance" and "Day Spring Section No. 66, Division of Temperance" met in the Division Room, in Gettysburg, at 10 o'clock a. m., July 4, in full regalia, and accompanied by the "Gettysburg Lodge Band," moved to Oulps Grove, under the direction of F. W. P. Thomas, Warren, chief Marshal, and E. H. Ditterline and Leonard Stough, assistants.

Having arrived at the grove, the company was dismissed until 1 o'clock, when near 200 persons sat down to an excellent dinner prepared by Elias Sheads. The company was organized by the appointment of the following officers:

President: D. G. W. P. Edman W. Stable.
Vice Presidents: P. W. P. John L. Hill, Michael M. Rex, George E. Buehler, P. W. P. John Culp, Johnson H. Skelly, Samuel Crist, Elias Degroff, Gabriel Meals, P. W. P. Robert Armer, Alexander Riggs, David M. Erroy, David Tipton and Abner Townsley.

Secretaries: D. A. Buehler, William H. Rex, P. W. P. Robert Sheads, M. J. George Frey, James Gallagher and William M. Hays.
The Declaration of Independence was read by J. L. Haysinger. At 4 o'clock the Procession re-formed and after marching through the different streets of town, returned to the Division room.

SEVENTY-FIVE YEARS AGO
Our town is filling up with summer visitors, but there is still room for more.
Mr. Jacob Cress had his street sprinkler in operation on the first and second squares of Baltimore street.

Our market is well stocked at present with potatoes at $1 a bushel; beans, 80 cents a bushel; tomatoes $2 a bushel; peas 75 cents a bushel; cucumbers 15 cents a dozen; raspberries and blackberries, 6 and 7 cents a quart.

Social: The Ladies' Mite Society of the M. E. church will hold a social on Tuesday evening, July 29, in their church edifice. The public are cordially invited. Refreshments, such as ice-cream, blackberries, cakes, etc., will be provided.

Mr. Charles W. Price, who absconded from our county about 18 months ago, was overhauled at Lewistown, in this state, on Saturday, by Constable Khunk, who brought him to this place on Tuesday evening, and lodged him in jail to await trial at court upon some three or four charges.

The Mechanicsburg, Pa., Journal of the 17th inst., says: Rev. John Ault has resigned the pastorate of this place, and accepted a call from the Reformed church at Littlestown, Adams county, Pa. We understand that the Rev. Mr. Deatrich, of Gettysburg, has been called to succeed Rev. Ault in this place. Rev. Deatrich is an able preacher and genial wholesaler gentleman, and we hope he will accept the call. Prof. Wise, the astronomer, is having

Today's Talk

SNAP JUDGMENT
We never know how many friends we have passed or how many valuable contacts we have missed because of snap judgments. Perhaps we didn't like the look of the face, or the dress, or the temporary talk. These signs are often erroneous.

Napoleon at school was snubbed and avoided because he was shy and small—hardly taller than five feet, three.

How many in the little town of Salem, Illinois, ever suspected that the tall partner of Lincoln & Berry, who conducted a store in a small log cabin, would some day become President of the United States, and be loved as a world figure for all time?

Often all of us have heard the expression—"I didn't like his looks." Snap judgment. Perhaps he was a possible friend, or a potential giant among men. Not many years ago a young man from Michigan came to New York to study music, at the same time courting the law. There came a time when a vigorous young man was needed to chase the crooks and racket group from New York City, and an able judge of men suggested this young man, whose name was Thomas E. Dewey. Dewey did the job and was then elevated to the Governorship of New York. Now everyone knows the story—nomination, for the second time—for the Presidency of the United States. The crooks didn't like his looks, but honest people did—and do today!

It isn't the look, but the works that count. There is a world of truth in that familiar old proverb—"Handsome is that handsome does." All through life we are faced with decisions to be made. The better informed we are, the better our judgment is bound to be. But snap judgments, without a consideration of the facts, are dangerous and apt to return to plague us.

The finest recommendations are not always carried in the face, but in the finger tips, inside the mind and heart, and sometimes in swift legs! Never sell faith, inexperience, and enthusiasm short! The elder Marshall Field, founder of Chicago's great stores, and the Field fortune, started as a poor boy. He early engaged a young man at $12 a week—and he noted in his notebook, "More after three months if he satisfies." He did—and became a later president of the organization when it had attained worldwide fame. John G. Shedd was the name.

Tomorrow Mr. Adams will talk on the subject, "Face It—Weakness."

CANDY BANNERS
An expert in the art of sweets, as quoted in the press, declares that all who serve such treats "Some manners should possess. For instance: candy cannot stand rough usage from an eager hand."

The box that holds a pound or two is with assortments lined, and none should paw the contents through.
A favorite piece to find, into a chocolate to bite, and put it back is never right.

But most important of the rules The expert thus regards: "Shun serving anything that drools To guests when playing cards." Rich caramels will never do. For friends whose upper plates are new.

Perhaps such manners suit for old, But what for children small? Will they behave as they are told Or snatch the best of all? When candy in the room they see, Just how well mannered can they be?

NOTES ON LATE CUCUMBERS

Experience establishes July 15 as the latest safe date for planting cucumbers in this latitude. Of course, several good garden varieties reach production size in 58 to 65 days after planting and this range allows over a month before the first expected frost, but the mid-July planting limit is advised to afford vines plenty of time to mature a maximum production of successive cucumbers before killing frosts come.

Cucumbers fit admirably into the late vegetable garden. They may be consumed at once or sold in local markets to meet the usual heavy demand for "pickling" cucumbers. And, as every housewife knows, the late crop can always be utilized profitably for canning and for mixing with various kinds of vegetable relishes.

Many successful gardeners prefer the row method of culture to the hill method for the late crop because the former permits better drainage in case of rainy weather during the latter stage of growth and particularly during the bearing season. By the row method cucumbers may, like late kale, be planted on a slightly raised row to insure freedom from standing water. Of course, hills may likewise be raised, but the bearing vines do not enjoy so much elevated ground as they do in broad rows. And another benefit from row culture is the ease with which producing vines can be placed under temporary coldframe bask in case an unseasonably early frost strikes in September.

Turn under a heavy application of well rotted manure beneath the row in a 3-foot wide strip. Work a complete fertilizer, something near a 5-10-6 strength, into the surface soil. Sow seed rather thick and later thin plants to stand 6 to 9 inches apart. If these all survive, thin again later to allow 12 inches between plants.

In numerous regions gardeners grow late cucumbers in fertile fence rows and train the vines to wire or other types of fence. This practice, too, is excellent to avoid dangers of standing water from heavy fall rains.

The striped cucumber beetle gnaws the leaves and transmits virulent organisms to the young plants. The grubs (larvae) feed on the stem base and main roots. Control is quite simple with rotenone, in spray or dust form. Or small plantings may be protected by covering the plants with cheesecloth spread over simple wire frames.

If aphids (plant lice) infest the young plants, combat them at once with nicotine sulfate in soapy water. Do not use any dust mixture on cucumbers containing sulphur.

One of the new hybrid cucumbers now available to gardeners is claimed to be fairly resistant to wilt and mosaic. They are worth a trial. The difference between white spine and black spine cucumbers is chiefly one of flesh and surface color after maturing.

Any regular varieties and the hybrids serve for immediate table use, making pickles (whole or sliced), and for use in relishes.

Questions arising from past problems with cucumbers will be gladly answered by the editor. Write him for needed assistance in gardening perplexities.

GROWING VITAMIN C FOR WINTER

Many factors combine in determining the vitamin C content of numerous fruits and vegetables. For example, if excessive applications of nitrogenous fertilizers or over-fertile loams cause tomato plants to produce a heavy crop of leaves which shade the tomatoes, the fruits will contain less vitamin C than tomatoes enjoying more direct sunshine. Likewise, cloudy weather during the latter stage of fruit and vegetable growth adversely influences the vitamin C content. These and related factors indicate the responsibility every gardener bears for those who eat the products of his labors.

Northern families may greatly decrease the amounts of citrus fruits and citrus juices needed from late fall to mid-spring in human diets by increasing the vitamin C contents of their garden crops, also by placing more emphasis on crops rich in this indispensable property. Several practices are worth mentioning, even this late in the growing season.

Staking and pruning tomato plants to increase the direct sunlight on the fruits without causing sun-scald will improve the vitamin C content. And here it should be stressed that every household with facilities should can a maximum store of tomatoes for all-winter use. While heat destroys vitamin C in all foods, and some is lost during storage, tomatoes are so rich in this vitamin and the property is so well protected by the tomato's acids that this vegetable remains the most economical source of vitamin C—the northern garden affords.

Strawberries are another food crop whose vitamin C content can be greatly enhanced by cultural practices to afford greater exposure of the berries to direct sunshine. "Don't plant strawberries where the soil is too rich," is advice farmers have been giving beginners for decades. It still remains sound advice, but knowledge of the added benefits in terms of vitamin C now double its importance.

Unfortunately many vegetables leading the list in this vitamin are not easily stored for all-winter use. For example, green peppers rank highest, with Brussels sprouts second. But in third place is cabbage, a crop which can be easily stored for all-winter by burial or in a cool basement or cellar. In terms of cost, vitamin C can perhaps be obtained with minimum expense in cabbage, along with other vitamins and minerals at the same time. Kale, dandelion greens, cauliflower and broccoli follow after cabbage.

One of the more desirable winter sources of an abundant supply of vitamin C is apples. Again the vitamin C content is increased by direct

Emmitsburg Wins After 14 Innings

Emmitsburg squeezed out a 3-to-2 victory over Blue Ridge Summit after 14 innings Sunday in a contest played before about 100 fans at the Emmitsburg field.

The game was scheduled originally for Blue Ridge Summit but was changed to the victor's field due to a National Guard encampment at the Blue Ridge field, Palmer hurried for the losers with Rohrer catching. Groch was the twirler for the victors with J. Wetzel behind the plate.

exposure of the fruit to sunshine. But in all cases apples remain an excellent source of this vitamin. Peaches, too, are a good source, provided they are eaten uncooked and the peach is a yellow-fleshed variety.

It is easy to overlook white potatoes when planning a dietary balance of vitamin C. While not exceptionally rich in C, potatoes are an expensive source. Too, if served baked in the skin they do not lose an alarming amount of this heat-susceptible property. Of course, boiled, fried, mashed and other methods of preparing potatoes may cause the loss of almost all of this valuable property.

Quick-freezing may be opening a new and highly beneficial era in protecting these nutritional riches found in vegetables and fruits.
